

Theological Musings from Dave's Laptop

March 20, 2018

This photo is not edifying, I know; but the deaths of these Coptic Christians for Jesus' sake is a reminder that multitudes of followers of Jesus around our world name the Name of Jesus at the risk—and sometimes the cost—of their lives.

This year's World Watch List has just been published. It's the list of the 50 nations where it's most dangerous to follow Jesus. You can see the list below, as well as see them on the map.

I encourage you to download the entire report using one of the links provided, and let this become part of your daily prayer, so that the Kingdom of God may come on earth as it is in Heaven.

<https://www.opendoorsusa.org/wp-content/uploads/2018/01/WWL2018-BookletNew.pdf>

<https://1drv.ms/b/s!AiXFE65ap7mVgftIKylIaA4jyLvZbA>

Extreme levels of persecution	Very high levels of persecution	High levels of persecution
1 North Korea	12 Saudi Arabia	24 Myanmar	36 Palestinian Territories	48 Bahrain
2 Afghanistan	13 Maldives	25 Nepal	37 Mali	49 Colombia
3 Somalia	14 Nigeria	26 Brunei	38 Indonesia	50 Djibouti
4 Sudan	15 Syria	27 Qatar	39 Mexico
5 Pakistan	16 Uzbekistan	28 Kazakhstan	40 UAE
6 Eritrea	17 Egypt	29 Ethiopia	41 Bangladesh
7 Libya	18 Vietnam	30 Tunisia	42 Algeria
8 Iraq	19 Turkmenistan	31 Turkey	43 China
9 Yemen	20 Laos	32 Kenya	44 Sri Lanka
10 Iran	21 Jordan	33 Bhutan	45 Azerbaijan
11 India	22 Tajikistan	34 Kuwait	46 Oman
	23 Malaysia	35 CAR	47 Mauritania

